Holsinger-Fuchs receives Outstanding Community Service Award

By Elizabeth Tollefson on Wednesday, April 6, 2005

(April 6, 2005, Crookston, MN) Pam Holsinger-Fuchs, Director of Student Activities/Service Learning at the University of Minnesota Crookston (UMC), has received the University of Minnesota's Outstanding Community Service Award. This award recognizes outstanding contributions and accomplishments of faculty, staff, or University-affiliated community members who have devoted their time and talent to make substantial, enduring contributions to the external community and to improve public life and the well-being of society.

Joe Massey, CEO of UMC, said, "Pam is such an asset to our campus and to our local community. She works tirelessly on behalf of students and generously gives of herself in the community. We are proud of Pam, and we are happy to see her acknowledged by broader University for her work." Pam will be recognized along with five other recipients by Robert Jones, Senior Vice President for System Administration, on May 10 in St. Paul. Previous winners of the Outstanding Community Service Award are posted online.
